

Future Developments/Recommendations

– Robin Pako Taolo CSE25-237

Although the website is fully functional in its current state, some future improvements could be:

- A user account system with login and registration.
- More responsive design refinements to support more screen sizes.
- A system that can filter based on a larger number of criteria such as storage sizes and CPU socket type.
- Adding a functional search bar.
- Adding more products.

These developments would further enhance usability, functionality and user experience.
